FOREWORD BY FIVB PRESIDENT

I am delighted to announce that the Volleyball Nations League is just around the corner! It is one of the most exciting and eagerly anticipated events in the last 10 years and I am thrilled to share it with the entire volleyball family.

The Volleyball Nations League is the FIVB's new premier competition, in which 16 world class teams for each gender will compete for the title. More than 35 cities from 20 countries will host the tournament, bringing the live action closer to volleyball fans around the world. Launching a men's and women's competition with the same name, format and prize money reiterates the FIVB's commitment to gender equality in volleyball, while also making the competition simpler and more engaging to follow.

Only the world's best teams have been selected for this prestigious tournament and the round robin format means that each country will have to battle with every other team for the chance to become Volleyball Nations League champion. Currently ranked world number one, Brazil are the team to beat in the men's competition, while China are top in the women's event. Each week, different countries will host a pool, giving more fans than ever before, the opportunity to watch and enjoy elite-level volleyball in their home nation.

For the first time, the FIVB is partnering with IMG to control the content production from each match, allowing us to maximise quality and promote a compelling, on-court narrative that will ensure the highest levels of fan engagement.

Fan entertainment is critically important and the Volleyball Nations League will showcase the most innovative sports presentation technology, to ensure that spectators will be engaged by every match, whether they are watching live in the stadium or following the action around the world.

This is truly a landmark moment for the FIVB as we launch the Volleyball Nations League. This competition will set the standard for both athletes and fans, and I am confident that the high quality on the court, with every team acting as one to achieve success, will be matched by the fantastic experiences off it.

HOST CITY

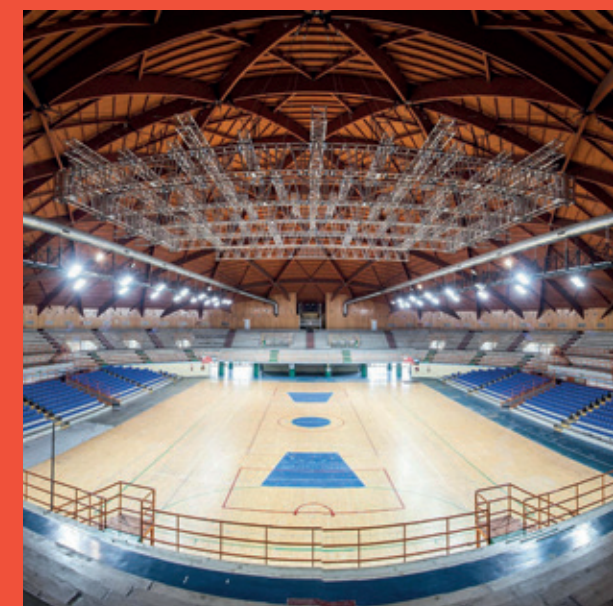

EBOLI

Eboli is a town and comune of Campania, southern Italy, in the province of Salerno, on the south edge of the hills overlooking the valley of the Sele. An agricultural centre, Eboli is known mainly for olive oil and for dairy products, among which the most renowned is the buffalo mozzarella from the area.

The archaeological excavations prove that the area of Eboli has been inhabited since the Copper and Bronze Ages, and also attested (from the 5th century BC) is the presence of the so called Villanovan civilization. The ancient Eburum was a Lucanian city, mentioned only by Pliny the Elder and in inscriptions, not far distant from the Campanian border. It lays above the Via Popilia, which followed the line taken by the modern railway. The Romans gave it the status of municipium. The town was destroyed first by Alaric I in 410 AD, and then by the Saracens in the 9th and 10th centuries. Later it was a stronghold of the Principality of Salerno, with a massive castle built by Robert Guiscard. During the 1930s Eboli was able to expand into the plain after a project of land reclamation carried out by the Fascist government. It was severely damaged during the 1980 Irpinia earthquake.

PALA SELE

Pala Sele is the biggest competition hall in Campania Region. With circa 8000 seats it hosted national and international events and sports competitions. In 2008-2009 it hosted the women's volleyball Coppa Italia and, in the past, a qualification round of FIVB Men's Volleyball World League. In addition to many sports events, Pala Sele is also a very famous venue for concerts. During the years, in fact, it has hosted many shows involving the most important Italian singers such as Zucchero, Laura Pausini and Tiziano Ferro.

WEEK 6
	JUN 27 - JUL 1
FINAL ROUND Nanjing, CHN

THE VOLLEYBALL NATIONS LEAGUE

The VNL is a brand new competition launched by the FIVB in 2018 for the top men's and women's national teams of the world. The aim of the Volleyball Nations League is to raise the level of the sporting action for fans and provide a world class platform for athletes to compete and grow. Launching a men's and women's competition under the same name and format promotes equality in volleyball, while also making it simpler and more engaging to follow.

The VNL includes 12 core teams and 4 challenger teams for a total of 16 in each gender.

In both the men's and women's leagues the 16 teams in each gender will compete first in round robin format. Each team will play a minimum of 15 matches and each core nation will host at least one pool. In each competition, the top five teams of the standings will join the hosts for the Finals.

The women's finals for the 2018 VNL will be played in Nanjing, China, June 27-July 1. The men's finals will be in Lille, France, July 4-8.

COMPETITION FORMULA

The 2018 FIVB Volleyball Nations League will include 16 teams for each gender, who will compete in a Preliminary Round over five weeks in a total of 20 pools of four teams each.

There will be one ranking table across all pools with the top five teams at the end of the Preliminary Round joining the hosts for the Finals.

Teams in the Finals will be placed in two pools of three teams each, with the top two of each pool advancing to semifinals followed by the medals matches.

A total of 260 matches will be played across the season - 130 for each gender (120 in the Preliminary Round plus 10 in the Finals).

COACH ITA DAVIDE MAZZANTI

After 2016 Rio Olympic Games, Davide Mazzanti replaced Marco Bonitta at the helm of Italy Women's National Team.

Born in Fano in 1976, Mazzanti coached several clubs in the Italian leagues before moving to the National Team, including his latest stint with Imoco Conegliano for the previous two seasons. He was assistant coach to Lorenzo Micelli at Bergamo when the team won the 2009 European Champions League.

In 2013 he has been appointed coach of Club Italia - FIPAV women's team competing in the National League A2 - and at the same time he has been coaching the women's Junior National Team.

He has been a very successful coach awarding the National League title in 2015 with Casalmaggiore, in 2016 with Imoco Conegliano and in 2017 with the silver medal in the last edition of World Grand Prix during his first year as coach of Italian Women's National Team.
